

JUSTICE BEST SERVED DEEP-FRIED

Darkness. The perfect stage for evil. Ready to make their explosive debut for the next act. But beware evil, for someone's about to boot you up stage! The cool and courageous king of the café, Chewperman!

Ah, but what is this? My arch nemesis, Tex Sleuther, the notorious computer hacker, is wreaking havoc across the city! But I can't reach him by foot, that would take too long! No, it is time to use my first ability! "Bean Boost!!" With a great burst of bean power, I propel myself into the air and glide safely to Tex's location.

Unnoticed, I glide about Tex. Behind him I saw something that nearly made me scream! Tex had stolen the Minecraft server databanks, and was holding it over a conveniently placed lava pit. I was about to attack when I saw the large number of goons around Tex. I had to act differently. Time for my second ability! "Deep Fried Dive!!" I slammed my fist against the ground causing a wave of batter that enveloped everyone.

Except for Tex Sleuther.

"Chewperman", Tex grinned. "You're too late. When I drop this everyone's Minecraft servers will be deleted." I was stunned. I had no idea someone could be this evil. "You lost!" Tex gloated. Just then, I had a great idea. "No", I said. "Bacon Slice Slash!!" I threw three slices of crispy bacon out at Tex and the databanks. Two slices pinned Tex to the wall, while the third hooked the databanks. I grabbed the Minecraft databanks and dialled triple zero! The police were coming to arrest Tex, meanwhile I was already on my way to the closest café or fast-food restaurant. I needed to replenish my powers with a huge burger desperately!

Stay tuned for the next exciting episode!