

I'm no ordinary girl, you see, I was born with three superpowers. One, I can fly. Really high and I'm quick and fast and swift. I'm so fast you can't even see me go past. Two, I can see in the dark. My whole life my mum told me "Eats your carrots so you can see in the dark" but, I don't think this is what she meant and three, I can go invisible it's great for hide and seek. When mum found out I has superpowers she stopped letting me do normal kid things. She was worried what people would do if they found out about my powers so, she put me in a school for people who were born different. Sometimes I wish I could see what was going on inside mum's head.

One day I wanted to find out more about my superpowers so I went to a magical library, I wouldn't find the information I wanted at a normal library. I walked through the big heavy doors and saw all the books flying around like birds. I was drawn to a big book about careers and what I wanted to be when I grew up but, I don't need to read that book, I am going to be a superhero.

I cam across a book that has big golden letters down the spine that spelt out 'What your mother is thinking', I open the book and get sucked inside and I see my mum watching me fight bad guys then getting hurt, my mum falls to the ground and grabs her face and cries. So that is what mum thinks about. The book releases me. I don't think I want to be a superhero anymore. I think I'll be a librarian.
